Preamble

We provide quality formal higher education to learners while offering experienced professionals the opportunity to formalize their experience through academic qualifications. All this is in line with the European life-long learning strategy, in accordance with Maltese regulations and the European Standards and Guidelines. We believe in creating an inclusive and diverse learning environment that fosters creativity, critical thinking, and civic responsibility. In order to achieve these goals, we hereby establish this constitution.

The main objective of Triagon is to provide a high-quality education to its students, promote intellectual and personal growth, and contribute to the advancement of knowledge and society while placing high values on ethical requirements and considerations.

Triagon's key objective is to optimally prepare learners for current and future challenges in the job market and to strengthen their professional and personal development. The faculty and the support staff strive at transferring the necessary skills and competences to students by employing innovative didactic models and study formats that provide ideal practical relevance. All learning activities at Triagon are based upon a body of scientific knowledge acquired through research which is then translated into professional practice and cross-profession key qualifications.

As an educational provider, Triagon attaches particular importance to the individual support of and advice to learners while offering sufficient time for personal feedback on the learners' academic progress.

Finally, the innovative educational formats pursued by Triagon are optimal for learners who wish to combine their studies with professional employment or family obligations. This is possible through a technology-enhanced learning environment based on self-determination, unlocking novel opportunities for the acquisition of knowledge, with the goal of obtaining consistent competence in education.

I. Legal position, basic tasks and principles

§1 Legal position

The supporting company of Triagon is a privately owned Higher Education Institution registered and incorporated under the laws of Malta and operating under business registration number C88995 and educational license (MFHEA) 2018-021.

§2 Purpose

- (1) Triagon develops, provides access to and disseminates scientific knowledge by providing academic services which include but are not limited to teaching and learning as well as research carried out by its staff and students. It carries out these tasks in a spirit of academic freedom and responsibility and it stimulates critical research and teaching, reflection and debate on scientific, social, philosophical and ethical questions. Triagon offers internationally accredited academic teaching based on scientific research. It aims at the development and integration of knowledge, skills and attitudes that will prepare its students for assuming social responsibility. In this regard Triagon offers high-quality, innovative qualification programs in a wide range of disciplines and in various formats while being committed to lifelong learning.
- (2) Triagon also serves the needs of the educational community by involving its academic staff in international academic activities such as conference, symposia and workshops.

§3 Principles

- (1) Triagon independently exercises the right of self-governance.
- (2) Triagon has proprietary quality management procedures in place. To this end, Triagon has set up a quality management system for its teaching and service with the aim of institutionalizing the verification, assurance, and improvement of quality in these fields. For the ongoing systematic development of teaching and continuing education, Triagon stays in constant exchange with higher education institutions and with other institutions in Europe and worldwide.
- (3) Triagon is aware of its responsibility to promote equality in general and equal opportunities, in accordance with the legal requirements set forth in the Laws of equal rights of Malta. Thus, Triagon fosters gender equality and takes the interests of every student in special living situations into consideration by following Maltese legislation which regulates the matter, particularly Article 13 of the Gender Identity,

Gender Expression and Sex Characteristics Act (ACT XI of 2015) which includes anti-discrimination and promotion of equality provisions – regardless of nationality, gender orientation, or situation. Therefore, gender equality and equal opportunities are at the heart of the institution’s guiding principle and should be promoted according to the principles of gender-sensitive perceptions across the entire academic policy as well as in all normative and administrative measures.

- (4) Triagon promotes the professional development and pedagogical continuing education of its staff.

II. Structure and organization

§4 Central bodies, members and groups

- (1) The main bodies of the Triagon are:

- (3) The Examination Board may establish sub-committees as it deems necessary. The Examination Board shall determine the purpose, members, and duration of each sub-committee. The chair and the members of each sub-committee shall be appointed by the Examination Board. The sub-committee shall report its activities and recommendations to the Examination Board.
- (4) Detailed regulations regarding examinations and assessments shall be found in the Assessment Regulations.

§13 Doctoral Examination Committee

- (1) The purpose of the Doctoral Examination Committee is to ensure the fair and consistent assessment of the performance of doctoral students. The Doctoral Examination Committee is responsible for overseeing and managing the doctoral examination process.
- (2) The Doctoral Examination Committee ensures the quality and standards of doctoral programs by monitoring student performance and providing feedback and guidance to academic staff on supervision and assessment practices. The Doctoral Examination Committee provides feedback and support to supervisors and examiners and manages appeals and complaints related to exam results of doctoral students. It implements policies and procedures related to examination administration and management.
- (3) The Doctoral Examination Committee shall consist of three to five members. The chairperson and the other members are appointed by the President after consultation with the Executive Dean.
- (4) Detailed regulations about examinations and assessments shall be found in the Study and Examination Regulations for Doctoral Studies.

§14 Scientific Advisory Board

- (1) The purpose of the Scientific Advisory Board is to advise Triagon on issues of teaching and curriculum development. It shall promote the institution's collaboration with other teachers and higher education institutions by representing Triagon externally to foster further development. The Scientific Advisory Board affords a necessary external perspective in consideration of the evolving needs of students and society. To further Triagon's quality management goals, the Scientific Advisory Board shall regularly engage in curriculum evaluation meeting in terms of both learning materials and teaching quality, and suggest improvements.

- (2) The members of the Scientific Advisory Board shall be experienced experts of the scientific community, appointed by the President for a term of three years. The members shall receive a certificate of appointment entitled "Member of the Scientific Advisory Board". Any appointment of the Scientific Advisory Board may be terminated by the President for a justifiable cause (e.g. unethical behavior, non-adherence to Triagon's policies or underperformance). Prior to any dismissal, the member of the Scientific Advisory Board shall be given the opportunity to issue a statement in their defense within ten working days from the letter of dismissal.
- (3) The Scientific Advisory Board must elect a chairperson from its members. The President is invited to the meetings which take place at least once a year. The president can delegate this commitment to the Executive Dean. The Scientific Advisory Board must adopt its own rules of procedure.

§15 Equal Opportunities Officer

- (1) The Equal Opportunities Officer's role is to support Triagon's mission of promoting equality and eliminating any form of discrimination. To that end, the Equal Opportunity Officer shall guarantee the avoidance of gender based discrimination against Triagon administrative and academic employees and students.
- (2) The Director of Administration shall promptly inform the Equal Opportunity Officer about any situation or occurrence relevant to the fulfillment of his or her duties. The Equal Opportunity Officer then has the opportunity to investigate all facts or data surrounding the institutional or extra-institutional discrimination and to submit a report which will subsequently be submitted to the Director of Administration who will eventually raise the case with the senate.
- (3) The Equality Opportunities Officer shall be selected from the administrative and academic members of staff who applied after an internal job advertisement. The applications will be reviewed by the Director of Administration who shall eventually seek approval for appointment by the Senate. The term of appointment is four years with the opportunity of reappointment. The Equal Opportunities Officer may be terminated by the Director of Administration in consultation with the President for a justifiable cause (e.g. unethical behavior, non-adherence to Triagon's policies or underperformance). Prior to any dismissal, the Equality Opportunities Officer shall be given the opportunity to issue a statement in their defense within ten working days from the letter of dismissal.

§16 Quality Management

- (1) Quality management and quality enhancement are of fundamental importance for Triagon. Therefore, the institution has developed a comprehensive quality management concept covering the areas of teaching and service, as well as all major academic processes.
- (2) The President in consultation with the Executive Dean and Director of Administration and with the approval of the Senate shall appoint a Quality Assurance Officer to support the implementation of the evaluation and quality management principles in teaching, as well as the preparation of all quality relevant documentation such as self-assessment reports (SAR).
- (3) The Quality Assurance Officer supports the Executive Dean and the Director of Administration in the implementation of the evaluation and quality management principles in the fields of teaching and learning, in the implementation of administration and student services, and in the preparation of all quality relevant documentation.
- (4) The Quality Assurance Officer must ensure that Triagon programs are reviewed regularly as follows:
 - Biennial by the Program Manager
 - Every five years through formal program accreditation through a accreditation agency and/or licensing authority.
This includes making sure that feedback from the Senate as well as from relevant stakeholders is taken into consideration.
- (5) During the recurring accreditation of the institution, every policy shall be reviewed and amended as necessary. Additionally, Triagon has annual goal setting meetings with:
 - each individual,
 - each organizational unit/department and
 - members of the top management in the context a strategic retreat as deemed necessary by the President and the Senate

The purpose of these meetings is to discuss the policies and strategies of Triagon. These goal setting meetings shall provide an effective setting for an ongoing discussion of policies and procedures.

§17 Committee Work

Depending on the need or occasion, committee work at Triagon allows sectoral meetings to take place entirely or in part through the use of electronic or digital communication media, provided that every committee member has the necessary rights for attending such virtual meetings.

III. Employees

§18 General rules

Triagon management shall only recruit staff with sufficient relevant education credentials and experience. In addition, new staff members shall receive a compulsory induction training. Each employee shall, in consultation with the superior, agree on a progression plan during the annual goal setting and feedback meetings. All employees shall receive regular feedback and coaching both from their superiors as well as their peers.

§19 Academic staff

- (1) The recruitment for academic staff (up to Associate Professors rank) at Triagon shall be managed by the Executive Dean; however, the appointment of full professors must follow a pre-defined procedure which ensures fairness and transparency. The details for staff recruitment are regulated in the Staff Recruitment Policy.
- (2) Triagon uses an academic scorecard that defines objectives for the professors and lecturers. Teaching and research are equally important. The academic scorecard is continuously reviewed and developed.
- (3) Each employee is required to participate in an annual professional appraisal conversation where academic staff can receive and give personal feedback and where the annual goal setting takes place and is documented on the employee's scorecard. The results of these meetings are included in action plans for individuals, organizational units and the institution.
- (4) Academic staff is expected to participate in monthly meetings for Quality Assurance. In these meetings, all current challenges can be discussed, and concrete action plans are developed. The meetings are focused on the continuous enhancement of all of the institution's activities (teaching, research, student services ...).

§20 Administrative staff

- (1) The recruitment process for administrative staff of Triagon shall be fair and transparent. The Director of Administration shall be responsible for the recruitment of administrative staff.
- (2) Triagon uses a system of annual employee appraisal that defines goal setting for the members of the administrative staff. The outcomes of these meetings include the action plans for the individuals, organizational units and the institution.

- (3) Each employee is required to participate in an annual professional appraisal conversation where administrative staff can receive and give personal feedback and where the annual goal setting takes place and documented on the employee's scorecard. The results of these meetings are included in action plans for individuals, organizational units and the institution.

IV. Election procedure

§21 Scope of the election process

The rules governing the election process must apply to all electoral procedures as stated in this Constitution.

§22 Election Administrator

- (1) Elections must be prepared, conducted and directed by the Election Administrator. The role of the Election Administrator is assumed by the Director of Administration or a person appointed by the Director of Administration.
- (2) Election Administrator duties do not affect active and passive voting rights of the Election Administrator.
- (3) The Election Administration shall prepare any ballots necessary for any election to be held unless the election is carried out by digital means.

§23 Conducting the Election

- (1) Elections are held for the following positions:
 - Academic representative on the Senate
 - Student Representative
- (2) Every person who is entitled to vote has only one vote. The transferal of voting rights is excluded.

§24 Election process

The process for internal elections involves the following steps:

- Announcement: The Election Administrator announces the date and details of the election.
- Nomination: Eligible and willing candidates are nominated by faculty, staff, or students, depending on the position being elected.
- Campaigning: Candidates may campaign for the position by communicating their platform and qualifications to the eligible voters.
- Voting: The eligible voters cast their votes, either through a paper ballot or an online voting system.

- Vote counting: The votes are counted by the Election Administrator, and the candidate with the highest number of votes is declared the winner. The first runner-up elected as deputy and successor for the rest of the election period in case the elected candidate leaves the institution or steps down.
- Certification: The Election Administrator certifies the election results and the winner takes office.

§25 Validity of ballots

- (1) The election is completed as once as the Election Administrator declares the end of the voting period. This triggers the counting of votes. All ballots are presumed to be valid, but may be found invalid if:
 - The ballot is blank,
 - The ballot is not deemed official,
 - The mark on the ballot does not clearly reflect the voter's intent
 - The ballot contains the name of a person who has not been nominated for election
 - The ballot contains unqualified additions, apart from the name of the elected person
 - The Election Administrator determines the ballot invalid or improper for a justifiable reason.
- (2) In case of doubt, the Election Administrator decides on the validity of ballot papers.

§26 Election results

- (1) The candidate who receives a simple majority of all submitted votes is elected.
- (2) Every election result shall be announced by the Election Administrator, and must be initially communicated to the person elected, the runner up in the elections shall act as deputy (i.e. Deputy Student Representative or Deputy Academic representative of the Senate)
- (3) The Election Administrator must send the election results to the President so that the results can be officially announced.

§27 Electoral protocol, election review

- (1) All elections must keep a detailed record of any election related meetings, including the electoral process itself. Documentation regarding the election process shall be transparent and open to all interested parties, including any candidates.

- (2) Voters and candidates can dispute the election results within one week from the date of the election. For doing so, a written statement detailing the reasons shall be submitted directly to the Election Administrator.
- (3) Disputing the election is only justified when essential provisions concerning the electoral procedure have been violated and this violation has led or could have led to a different election result.
- (4) If an election is disputed the whole process will be reviewed by the President. The final decision on the matter will be made by the Senate based on the findings of the President. In case of irregularities within the election, the Senate can decide a rerun of the election.

V. Financing

§28 Tuition Fees

- (1) Triagon finances its regular business operations predominantly from the ongoing tuition fees of enrolled students. In addition, the institution charges a one-time fees for the correction of final degree thesis papers (Bachelor thesis, Master thesis and Doctoral thesis). Other revenues come from application fees, acceptance/recognition fees, and entrance examinations.
- (2) The amount and method of fee payment must be decided by the CEO in agreement with the President.

§29 Budgeting

- (1) Based on the development and strategic plan approved by the President and the Senate, the Director of Administration shall create a budget plan in consultation with the Executive Director. All organizational units shall prepare a draft version of their annual budget plan covering all relevant costs. These budget plans are consolidated at one of the monthly management meetings hosted by the Director of Administration. If no consensus is reached the final decision on the allocation of resources is made by the President in agreement with the Chief Executive Officer. This plan must be prepared with commercial diligence and caution in order to enable the institution to achieve the objectives defined in the Constitution and adopted by the committees, and to fulfill all legal obligations.
- (2) The President works with the Senate to ensure that each point outlined in the approved budget plan are strictly adhered to. The CEO must be regularly informed about deviations from the approved plan. If deviations cannot be offset in the foreseeable future, the estimated budget deviation until year-end must be submitted to the CEO; this estimation must be continuously updated.
- (3) All accounts shall be audited annually. All accounting systems must be up to date and follow all regulations of the Malta Financial Services Authority and the relevant law.

VI. Final provisions

§30 Amendments

The President may, at his/her/their discretion propose amendments to the constitution. For such amendments to be implemented, the Senate must approve the changes with two thirds of the votes being in favor of the amendments.

§31 Implementation of Constitution

This Constitution shall be considered valid and in force one day after its publication.

Marsa, December 13th, 2022

Prof. Dr. Dr. Christian Werner

President
